WORLD BOOK DAY - Murder Mystery

Written by Miss E Hibbert

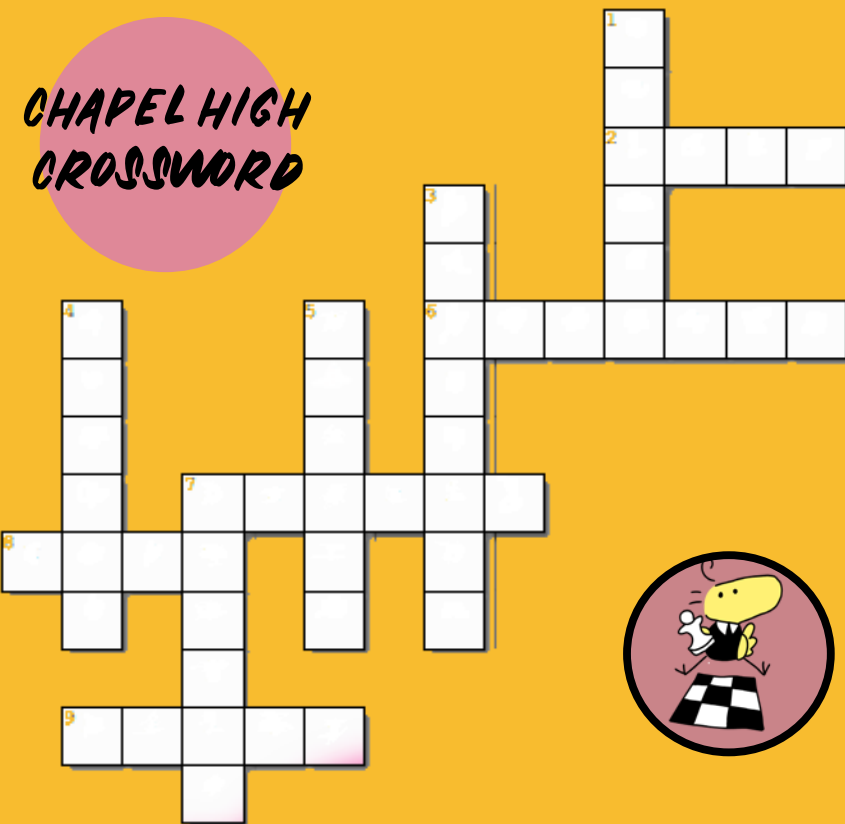

Our World Book Day murder mystery was a blast - around 200 students took part during lunch time to find out who dunn'it to Mrs Dunn? Luckily it was only an attempted murder, but our detectives managed to find the villainous culprit! Students had to visit 10 rooms and determine which fictional villain had left their alibi behind from an anonymous extract reading, they also had to find the weapon that was hidden in the room that related to one of the novels... It was The Woman in Black with the White Witch's Wand (Narnia) in Mrs Dunn's office. Well done to Oliver Thorley, Zach Freeman and Nate Cooper who managed to solve the mystery in the quickest time, I was touched to find out that they're planning on spending their vouchers on a group trip to Pizza Express to celebrate their victory.

Barcelona Trip

Written by Marni Morby

It all started at 1:30am on a cold winter's morning in Glossop. We had to meet at Chapel-en-le-Frith High School car park at 3am! There were 29 students and 4 teachers: Ms Lewis, Mrs Louis, Miss Crick and Mr Grieves. We were all buzzing for the flight to Barcelona.

When we arrived at the airport, we were all too excited to notice how tired we were (except for Mr Grieves of course). We saw all the planes and I was excited to board our plane. We of course had to get through security first.

“The airport was very chaotic!”

- Archie Hambleton, a student who joined us on the trip.

DAY ONE

We checked into the accommodation. The accommodation had a nice area downstairs where we could meet with friends who were in a different room. Upstairs was where the rooms were. They had 4 bunk beds and lockers underneath the bunks where we could store our bags. The beds weren't the comfiest but they were fine for the trip. After we checked in, we went to explore Park Guell and the Sagrada Familia (a cathedral). The famous cathedral is still unfinished after many years but still very beautiful. After sightseeing, we were given some time to do what we wanted. I obviously spotted a McDonalds and we hurried straight to it! Yummy!

DAY TWO

We went on a cable car in the extreme winds to Montjuic castle. The views of the harbour were spectacular, and the winds made it particularly exciting. We explored La Boqueria Market, later we went straight for McDonalds (again!).

DAY THREE

Was the most exciting day for me. In the morning, we went to the Camp Nou stadium. It was really fun. We got to see all the trophies; we sat on the bench and walked through the tunnel onto the pitch! In the afternoon, we attended a Spanish cooking show and made paella. Afterwards, we ran to McDonalds (I know for a third time)!

DAY FOUR

We attended a Rumba Percussion event: we played the guitar and accompanied a man singing a traditional Spanish song. In the afternoon, we went to the Gothic quarter to do some shopping. I once again went to McDonalds for lunch. Later that day, we went to the beach and my mates and I played in a mini play area.

DAY FIVE

On the last day, we woke up at 5:30am UK time to go to the airport and we arrived back at school at 1pm. It was a fabulous trip. I enjoyed every minute of it. Gracias profesores!

DEADLINE:
FRIDAY 12TH MAY!

On Saturday 11th March 2023, 80 Chapel-en-le-Frith High School students and 8 members of staff set off on their winter sport adventure to Bardonecchia, Italy. We started off with a delay on the plane at Leeds airport, where some students had the opportunity to visit the cockpit before take-off. Despite the delay, many members of the public comment on how impressed they were with the behaviour of our students. We landed at a very wet Chambéry airport and made our transfer to the Olympic Village in Bardonecchia.

Day one in resort consisted of ski fit and introductions to our instructors. We hit the slopes at 10am and began our lessons. Over fifty percent of our group were either complete beginners, or had completed a small amount of lessons at the Chill Factor. We had a number of intermediate groups who had experience some skiing, and top group with skiers that had skied a number of times. Students were lucky to ski for five hours per day, led by some excellent instructors. Throughout the week, students experienced some tough skiing conditions, with ice, slush and even some mud making their time on the slopes a real challenge. We were fortunate that on a couple of days, we had some good power higher up the mountain, meaning our higher groups could show off their ability. It was nice to see that all students made good progress on the slopes and some even developed their freestyle ability in the snow park! The lead instructor commented at the end of the week that Chapel had “great kids and staff”.

Ski Trip 2023

Written by Mr P Henshall

At the Olympic Village, students enjoyed a range of Italian meals, but the pasta seemed to be the firm favourite of our students! Students also enjoyed an afternoon at a local café for crepes and hot chocolate and a trip to the local pizzeria for some yummy pizza! There were some interesting local delicacies, such as Guinea fowl and rabbit, which a small number of students tried!

We had a range of evening activities including a scavenger hunt, karaoke night, games night and a shopping night. Miss Heath organised a crazy scavenger hunt where students had to find items and present them to the judging panel. Students also had squeeze a friend in to a suitcase and create a new superhero! Karaoke night was good fun, with renditions of Abba, Coldplay and a group performance of ‘I’m still standing’!

Overall both staff and students had a really enjoyable trip, where students developed their life skills and all made good progress with their skiing. Here’s to the next PE department trip!

Bone Talk Court Case

Year 7b/EN1 JME English

A normal lesson in the library on a red week, Wednesday, period three, you ask? Absolutely not. The library was TRANSFORMED into a buzzing courtroom this term, the accused - Bone Talk, written by Candy Gourlay, the judge - year 7 student Oliver Thorley, his assistant - librarian, Miss E Hibbert and the courtroom commander - english teacher, Mrs J Metcalfe. The rest of the class were divided into the defense, prosecution and there were 12 impartial members of the jury.

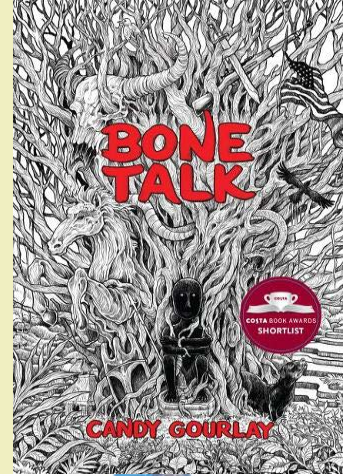

What was Bone Talk on trial for, you ask:

“Is Bone Talk too violent/explicit to be taught in schools?”

The year 7s spent the hour debating, trying to persuade the judge and jury to side with their point of view. The debate often became passionate and the judge had to bang his doorstop... I mean gavel, to bring ‘order to the court’!

After minutes of deliberating the jury came to the conclusion that Bone Talk should be taught in schools. Yes, it is a sensitive book but it is informative and gives you an insight into a culture that is far from our own. The subjects are gritty and difficult at times but nothing a group of mature year 7s can’t handle. Well done year 7!

Cosmo Project! Year 9 Student

A student in year nine decided to draw a character, Cosmo, every day for a month to try to improve their drawing of them (but got lazy and forgot a few days and came back later). Along the way they decided to put it in the newspaper to guide others to try this method if they want to improve at drawing something.

CUBE CLUB

Every Wednesday lunch time, MFL4

Written by Efan Lomax

Last month, Rubik's cube club started. It is a nice and friendly community where you can learn, teach and play around with Rubik's cubes. If you already know how to solve a cube, they can teach you faster ways to do it, and you can enter competitions and tournaments. We interviewed a member of cubing club called Joseph Turnock:

WHY DID YOU START CUBING?

Joseph: I started around three years ago because I saw a neighbour doing it and I was inspired! I thought I wanted to be that person. I wanted to do that!

IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE YOU WOULD LIKE TO COMMENT ON ABOUT CUBING CLUB?

Joseph: It is a very friendly community, and I would definitely recommend coming along.

Rubik's cube club is on every Wednesday, in MFL 4, at lunchtime and we hang out in the library most days.

So, grab that cube that has been gathering dust on your shelf for the past three years and come along to cubing club!

HOW DO YOU TEACH THE BEGINNERS?

Joseph: I don't actually teach the beginners myself, but I do know that some of the older students go through step by step, in detail, with them.

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT THE COMMUNITY IN CUBING CLUB?

Joseph: It is quite a chill place. Most of the time it is quiet, and the people are very nice and friendly. Recently, I have made a lot of friends with all the cubers.

Teacher's Strikes: Questions and Answers?

Written by Mr D Sellers

Over the last few weeks many students have asked me questions about the teacher strikes. This is my best go at answering some of them.

WHAT IS A STRIKE?

When a group of workers are unhappy about an aspect of their job (usually pay, workload or conditions) they can ask their employer to improve things. If their employer refuses, then the workers can refuse to go to work to force their employer to meet their demands. This is called a strike. A strike is usually a last resort when negotiations have failed. Neither side really wants a strike as the workers don't get paid for the days they strike, and the employer is disrupted.

WHAT IS A UNION?

People acting on their own are not very powerful. People acting together are a lot more powerful. A union is a group of workers who act together to be more powerful. Think of it like a club for everyone who does the same job. Everyone in the union pays a membership fee to be in the club. That money is used to pay people to negotiate for fair pay and better working conditions for the workers. The union also supports you with advice if you get into a disagreement with your employer. Unions help to stop bad employers taking advantage of their employees.

WHY IS IT SOME TEACHERS AND NOT ALL OF THEM?

There is more than one union for teachers and the voting on whether or not to strike went differently in the different unions. In the NEU teaching union, more than half the members voted and voted overwhelmingly to strike. In the NASUWT union even though the majority of the people that voted said they wanted to strike they aren't legally allowed to do so because less than 50% of the people in the union voted. Some teachers feel very passionately and changed union so they could strike. Some teachers are not part of a union or disagree with the strikes.

HOW DOES THIS END?

I can't predict the future; however, most strikes end with a bit of compromise on both sides. Usually, the employer agrees to some of the demands and the employees go back to work because they are desperate to be paid again.

CAN ANYONE GO ON STRIKE? WHAT ABOUT STUDENTS?

Anyone can choose not to turn up for work but being in a union gives you protection from being sacked for doing so. There are rules to make it legal. Everyone in the union is asked to vote and if a large enough number of people do so and vote 'yes' then there will be a strike. The rules are slightly different depending on which job you do and which union you are in. In theory school children can't strike because they are not employed to go to school. You also aren't in a union.

WHAT ARE THE STRIKES TRYING TO ACHIEVE?

This dispute is between teachers and the government. It is not a dispute between teachers and the management of our school. Most of the news coverage has been about money but it's actually a lot more complicated than that. Reason One, pay: Inflation is the change in how much things cost. Most of the time this goes up and things get more expensive. Every year for more than 10 years teachers' pay has risen by less than inflation. This means that, compared to how much things cost, experienced teachers are paid about 23% less than they were in 2007. Teachers are annoyed that they are not getting what they expected to when they trained to become teachers. Reason two, funding schools: You might have seen that experienced teachers were given a 5% pay rise this year. However, the government didn't actually give the school any more money to pay for this. This means that we have to save money in other ways to pay for this, like making class sizes bigger so we can employ less staff. This increases staff stress, workload and reduces the quality of the education we can deliver. Reason three, teacher recruitment: the government has failed to recruit enough new teachers. For example, nationally, 1 in 8 children are set work and assessed in Maths by someone who is not qualified in the subject. Graduates state stress, excessive work and stagnant pay as putting them off. Reason three, teacher retention: many teachers are leaving education for the same reason people aren't joining the profession. 1 in 3 teachers leave the profession within the first 5 years. All of these issues can be solved by giving schools more money. This is why many teachers are on strike. They are losing their pay because they care about your education.

Chapel Runners at Derbyshire Championships!

Written by Miss E Milne

SPORT

Following very successful trials at Buxton prior to Christmas, Chapel had a large representation in the High Peak team which participated in the Derbyshire Schools Championships at Tupton Hall school. On a very cold morning, over a challenging and undulating course, the eighteen athletes competed in races covering all year groups.

For our year 7s this was their first experience of a county championships and the outstanding runner was Jess Dilks who finished an excellent 10th. In the junior races (year 8/9) there was an outstanding run from Joel Tidmarsh, and though only a year 8, he finished 10th and is reserve for the Derbyshire team; what a great run! Our boys who reached the National finals all competed very well and I am sure we will see some of them winning county honours next year.

The intermediate races saw our two star runners, Emma Johnson and Grace Longden finish 4th and 6th and both are now selected for the county team to compete in the English Schools' finals in Nottingham next month. Second national finals for both these athletes! Zak Kelly also had a fine run and he is also reserve for the National finals.

All students performed very well with over 420 participants taking part in this prestigious competition and the High Peak teams finished in the top three, in five out of the six races; a huge well done to everyone!

THE PERSON BEHIND THE TEACHER

THIS ISSUE'S SPOTLIGHT IS ON...

MRS BRAMWELL

DRAMA AND ENGLISH TEACHER

Q: What did you want to be when you were younger?

A: It ranged over the years from a dancer, an author, to a Redcoat at Butlins to a Postwoman and then Teacher!

Q: What is the best Christmas present someone could give you?

A: A holiday home by the sea! Or tickets to see 'Back to The Future the Musical'!

Q: What is the strangest gift/card a pupil has ever given you?

A: A thank you card with lots of faces drawn on them. All the noses were very dubious looking!

Q: What are the best and worse parts of being a teacher?

A: Seeing young people develop their confidence and flourish. Watching young people make questionable choices.

Q: Were you well behaved in school?

A: Ahem! My school reports often described me as a 'chatterbox' which I don't think is too bad. Mostly, I was good, all though I did have my 'moments' in year 9.

Q: What subjects did you take at GCSE?

A: History, Drama, Food tech and a BTEC in something to do with the community.

Q: If you could change your career, what would you change it to?

A: I'm very happy where I am but occasionally, I still dream of being in the chorus line of a West End Show

Q: What are your hobbies?

A: Walking with my dog and friends and family, socialising, watching teen dramas with my daughter, reading and Clubbercise.

Q: If you support a football what team, do you support?

A: Buxton FC

Q: Do other staff have a nickname for you?

A: Possibly... but if they do I don't know it!

Q: What is a hairstyle choice you regret?

A: Too many to mention, I had brown short spiky hair in Year 6 as I was obsessed with Michael J Fox at the time! By the time I hit year 9 I used a product older readers may remember called 'Sun In' which was basically bleach in a spray bottle. It was not a good look.

Q: What is your favourite film/TV show?

A: I'm an 80s Movies film geek as growing up my Mum was the manager of the local cinema so childcare involved watching a film with my brother and a bag of sweets. In no particular order I love Back to The Future (see previous answers), The Goonies, Dirty Dancing and Indiana Jones and The Temple of Doom.

Q: What is your favourite book?

A: 'The Book Thief'

Q: If you could pick a different subject to teach, what would it be?

A: PSHE/Learning for Life.

Q: What is the funniest thing that has ever happened to you?

A: During a Uni tour to Amsterdam, me and some other drama types were messing around singing and dancing a Musical routine in one of the main squares, a group of tourists gathered around taking photos and cheering. We even got asked for our autographs after! No idea who they thought we were!

Q: If you were going to a desert island and could only take one thing what would it be?

A: My husband... or maybe a speedboat?

WHO MIGHT NEED COUNSELLING?

Students come to counselling with a wide range of issues. Try not to worry about whether your problem is serious enough to bring to counselling.

The kinds of issues counsellors can help with include: • Depression • Anxiety and panic disorders • Lack of motivation • Trauma • Bullying • Sudden changes in character, mood or behaviour that concerns you • Misuse of alcohol and drugs • Self-harm - harming thoughts • Eating issues • Violence • Abuse • Relationship difficulties friends/family • Bereavement and loss • Anger management • Low self-esteem • Gen-

Counselling offers a safe and confidential space for you to talk through any issues you may have and helps you explore your way through sometimes difficult experiences and feelings. For example you may be having difficulty with:

IDENTITY FAMILY FRIENDS LOSS.

You may be feeling:

DEPRESSED ANGRY ANXIOUS HURT.

Through exploring these feeling and issues together, I aim to help you grow your self-worth and confidence and build upon your resilience.

PENNY SMITH'S SCHOOL COUNSELLING SERVICE

Are you feeling stressed, overwhelmed, worried or down?

Are you struggling to sleep and concentrate at school?

Are you feeling things are getting to you and you're struggling to enjoy life?

If so... I am here to help you get the best out of your time in school and beyond.

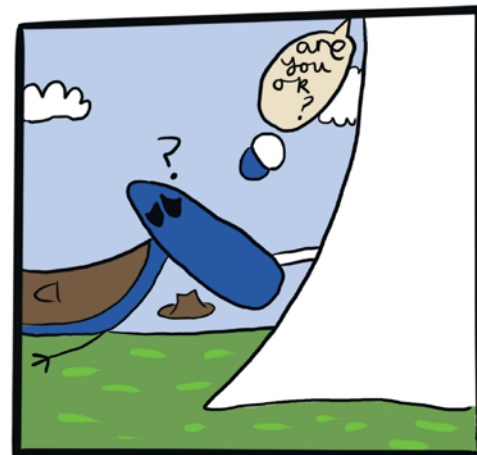

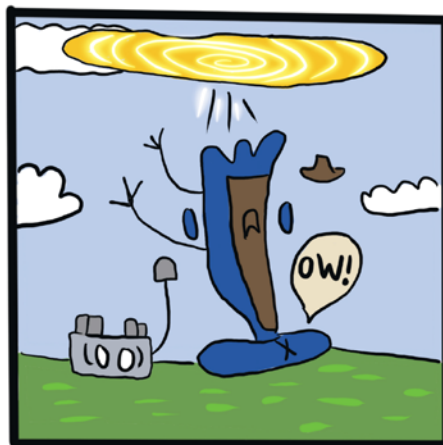

For confidential support and understanding, you can arrange an appointment with me.

You can choose how to arrange an appointment:-

1. Ask your pastoral leader to be referred for a counselling assessment.
2. Come to my drop in on a Wednesday or Friday lunch time at 12.30pm in the interview room on MFL .
3. Leave a note at reception for me.

EASTER SIMNEL CAKE RECIPE

Written by Sophie Pomeroy

Ingredients

- 6 oz margarine
- 6 oz sugar
- 8 oz plain flour
- 1 ½ level tsp baking powder
- 3 eggs
- 1 lb mixed dried fruit
- 2 oz cherries
- 2 oz peel
- 2 oz chopped almonds
- 2 oz split almonds
- 2 tbsp milk
- 1 tsp spice

Instructions

1. Cream the margarine and sugar together until soft and light. Add the beaten egg. Sieve dry ingredients together. Chop a few of the almonds and split the others.
2. Mix the chopped almonds, floured cherries, fruit, and peel together.
3. Stir in the flour and enough milk to make a slow dropping consistency, then lastly add the fruit.
4. Put half of the mixture into an 8-inch tin and cover with a small circle of marzipan, then add the rest of the mixture on top.
5. Bake for 2-2 ¼ hours (only 1 ¼ in fan assisted) in the middle of a very moderate oven at around 160 degrees Celsius to around 180 degrees Celsius. Leave in oven for a short while after because of marzipan.
6. When baked and cool brush the top of the cake with egg white or sieved apricot jam.
7. Cover with another circle of marzipan. Brush with egg white and brown under low grill.
8. Decorate with mini eggs (optional).

CHICKPEA BLONDIE RECIPE

Written by Sophie Pomeroy

Please note that I got this recipe off the internet, and it did not provide exact amounts for the ingredients. I cannot help this fact. Sorry.

Ingredients

- 1 can of chickpeas
- Almond butter
- Eggs – vegan alternatives don't work I'm afraid
- White sugar and brown sugar- for a caramel taste
- White chocolate chunks
- Salt
- Baking powder
- Oil
- Vanilla extract

Instructions

1. First, start off by pulsing the drained and rinsed chickpeas in a food processor until finely ground.
2. Add the almond butter, oil, vanilla extract, then pulse until smooth. Add the eggs.
3. Mix the dry ingredients – the sugars, salt and baking powder. Do this separately to the other ingredients.
4. Line an 8 or 9 inch square baking pan with parchment paper, then pour in the mixture
5. Bake until the top begins to brown, and the sides are firm – a toothpick may still come out sticky - that's ok.

MYSTERY

THE PRINCES IN THE TOWER

Written by Sophie Nicholls

The Princes in the Tower are one of the greatest mysteries in British history. It surrounds the disappearance of a King Edward V and his brother, Richard of Shrewsbury. Let me break it down.

In 1483, Edward IV dies of a stroke, leaving his son to take over. This was Edward V. He was unfortunately twelve years old at the time, so his uncle Richard of Gloucester was appointed as the Protector. Edward was moved to his residence at the Tower of London, where he was soon joined by his brother, Richard of Shrewsbury. It was here that they spent the rest of their lives.

They were seen less and less of the tower grounds, until they disappeared completely. Richard of Gloucester had seized the throne prior to this and was now Richard III. It is most likely that they were murdered by the orders of Richard, but the truth is unknown. The bones of two children were found under the stairs of the Tower in 1674. After further examination, these bones were identified as the Princes, but some of the bones were later identified as animal bones and the skeletons were shown to be incomplete in 1933. The bones were interred as the Princes in Westminster Abbey, but DNA testing permission has been denied.

Visitors have claimed to have seen the ghost of two children walking the corridors of the tower and people believe them to be the Princes walking to their bed and ultimately to their death. But it is unknown for certain who they are.

So there you have it. A murder mystery that may remain a mystery forever...

January saw yet another two species successfully give birth with a baby Coquerel's Sifaka and twin Sumatran tiger cubs.

The rare Coquerel's Sifaka was born to parent Beatrice and Elliot as part of a vital new conservation breeding programme, designed to protect the critically endangered lemur from extinction. Chester Zoo are the first zoo in Europe to successfully breed this critically endangered primate.

The tiny Sumatran tiger twins were born to first time parents Kasarna and Dash. Just 350 Sumatran tigers are thought to remain in the wild, making them one of the world's rarest tiger subspecies. They're listed as critically endangered by the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN). That means birth is a vital step in the con-

THANKS!

Thank you everyone for your amazing contributions to Issue 3 of the Summ'it. What an interesting term we've had, one of the shorted ones, but so much has happened!

If you want to get involved in the school newspaper, you can email an article to:

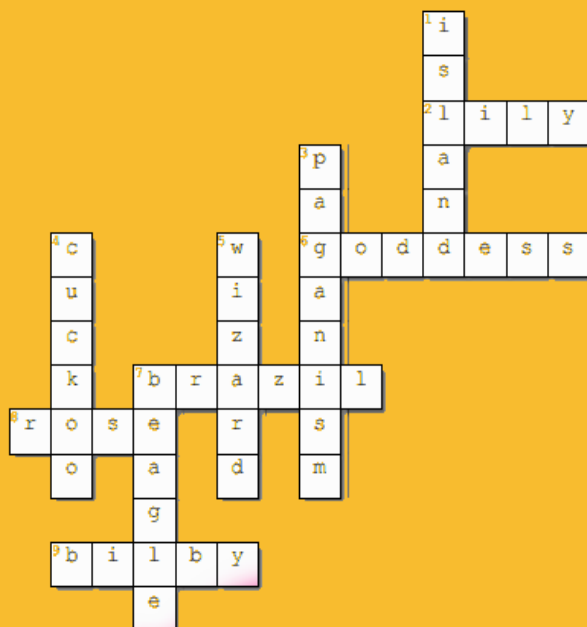

library@chapelhigh.org.uk

Or you can come to the meetings in the library every Thursday lunch time. See you there!
